

TOURIST STRANDED AT AIRPORT FOR 5 MONTHS - When student Shezidan Gregorio arrived at Fortaleza Airport in Brazil he was planning to fly home to Holland. He had had a great holiday, but unfortunately he had spent all his money - all he had was his return air ticket to Amsterdam. But when he checked in, the airline staff at the airport told him that he would have to pay airport tax before he could leave the country - Shezidan explained that he was completely broke, but he wasn't allowed to fly and so he missed his flight home. His ticket was not-refundable, so now he needed to buy a new ticket and pay the airport tax. As he had no money, Shezidan's only option was to sleep in the airport and clean restaurants in exchange for food and some money. After working for 5 months, he had saved enough for the airport tax and the Brazilian police persuaded the airline to let him use his old ticket to go home. Shezidan said that the Brazilian people were really nice to him as he was treated very well.
 Shezidan finally arrived home safe last week.
